VATICAN AND ITALY SIGN PACT MONDAY

Italy and Church Settle Old Troubles in Momentous Treaty

Rome, Feb. 8.—(AP)—Signature of the treaty of conciliation and concordat between the Vatican and the Italian government has been postponed from Sunday until Monday afternoon.

On Sunday a Te Deum will be sung for the anniversary of the Pope's coronation in the church of St. John Lateran which adjoins the papal palace where the ceremony of signing will take place.

As news of the momentous event in the Lateran palace would certainly become known, a great gathering of people would ensue which it is thought best to avoid. Consequently the signing was put over a day.

The treaty will be signed with a golden pen supplied by the Vatican and the pen will then be kept in the Vatican museum as a historical memento.

EVEN VATICAN EXCITED

Rome, Feb. 8.—(AP)—As Sunday with its momentous ceremony at the Lateran palace approaches even the usual calm of the Vatican is ruffled with excitement.

Reserve which was maintained until yesterday was abandoned with the announcement to the assembled diplomats accredited to the Vatican of settlement of the differences of the Holy See and the Italian state. Everywhere there is rejoicing at the imminent conciliation.

Predictions are heard that the Pope will remain in history as "Pius the Great." Cardinal Gasparri, papal Secretary of State, is hailed as the most remarkable statesman the church has produced in the last century, the work of Cardinal Ercole Consalvi, who in 1801, under Pope Pius VII, concluded the concordat with Napoleon which lifted the church from the disastrous condition of the French revolution, is recalled by way of comparison.

A flood of congratulations has begun to pour in upon the Vatican. Most, of course, are from various Italian provinces but all parts of the world are represented.

Pope Enthusiastic

Even the enthusiasm of His Holiness seems augmented, now that matters approach their climax. He rose much earlier than usual this morning. At six-thirty his valet, Cavalier Malvestiti, heard him moving about in his bed room and, knocking, entered.

He found the Pope already dressed and shaved. His Holiness making the explanation that he wished to hurry, having a lot of work to attend to. Nevertheless he knelt in his private chapel and prayed longer than usual, afterward celebrating mass.

Breakfast over he received Cardinal Gasparri and Monsignor Eugenio Pacelli, papal nuncio at Berlin. With them he re-examined all papers concerning the conciliation.

It is learned there will be two distinct treaties. One of these will deal with the solution of the so-called "Roman question." The other, much more voluminous, will contain the concordat, the first will have an international character while the second will deal only with ecclesiastical and religious legislation in Italy.

Pending publication of the concordat, there is some speculation as to just what changes acceptance of the canon law by the Italian government will entail.

Means Many Changes.

There is almost unanimous agreement that its significance reaches farther than the territorial and monetary concessions made in the first part of the concordat. It is in direct opposition to the principle proclaimed by the famous Italian statesman, Count Di Cavour, who held for "a free church in a free state."

Civil laws probably will be modified to conform with canon law. Save in purely religious matters the new law of the state will apply to all irrespective of religion.

Some of the changes forecast are: Legalization of religious marriages. Removal of ecclesiastics from jurisdiction of civil courts.

Reinstitution of religious teaching in public schools.

Removal of civil restrictions on the clergy.

Property rights for religious orders. Civil enforcement of church edicts as to church personnel.

Exemption of ecclesiastics from military duty.

SUMMON ENTIRE LEGISLATURE TO CHICAGO COURT

Fergus, Reapportionment Fan, Starts New Battle

Springfield, Ill., Feb. 8.—(AP)—Law abiding legislators of the 56th General Assembly have a new experience in prospect when they return here Wednesday. A summons to appear before Judge Victor P. Arnold, in Chicago, Feb. 13, to answer the quo warranto proceedings of John B. Fergus, seeking to force reapportionment awaits every one of them.

This action will make a conference of downstate members certain. Instead of all going to Chicago they will likely name a committee to represent them. Fergus bases his case this time on the charge that legislators are holding office illegally because of their failure to reapportion the state as provided in the constitution.

Sheriff James Kent this morning had a summons for all of them. Some papers to serve in any other kind of a case would bring happiness to a sheriff but these bring no joys at all, for the service is to the state. With his chief deputy the Sheriff will call on the General Assembly early next Wednesday. Cooperation of the members to make the Sheriff's job an easy one has been assured him.

Director of Agriculture

Gossip this morning was that the next member of Governor Emmerson's cabinet to be appointed would be a Director of Agriculture. The name of John G. Oglesby of Elkhart, former Lieutenant Governor, was mentioned prominently for the place, with other names including those of S. J. Stanard, incumbent, B. H. Davidson, a former director of the department, Phil Haner of Taylorville and A. C. Everingham of the Illinois Agricultural Association.

Today Governor Emmerson dedicated the new Masonic Temple in Decatur in his capacity as official in the Masonic order.

Lee, Whiteside and Ogle counties form one of the deaneries, of which the Very Rev. A. J. Burns, B. G. of Sterling, is the head. DeKalb, Kane and Kendall counties form a second deanery. Dr. Davies, Stoughton and Carroll, another, and Mr. Henry, Boone and Winnebago the fourth.

MRS. STRATTON BETTER.

Springfield, Ill., Feb. 8.—(AP)—Mrs. William J. Stratton, wife of the Secretary of State, today is being moved from a hospital to her home in Onondaga, it was learned here. Mrs. Stratton has been dangerously ill for several days and the Secretary has been constantly at her bedside. She is reported to be considerably improved.

DELVE DEEPER IN MYSTERY OF DEATH OF THE BURNHAMS

Murder and Blackmail are Suggested in Sinister Chicago Affair

Chicago, Feb. 8.—(AP)—Fingers of fear, blurred by blackmail and stained with sinister suggestion, had left their smudgy whorls on the Burnham death mystery today.

No matter where it turned, the official inquiry into Mrs. Selma Burnham's death 10 days ago followed a trail of dread and distrust under which the wealthy widow lived following the death last July of her husband, Sanford A. Burnham, slot machine manufacturer.

Even Burnham's death, with no thought for six months but that it was from natural causes, was drawn into the state's attorney's investigation. Burnham's daughters, Mrs. Sidney W. Ballard of Detroit and Mrs. G. Howard Gowen, both the wives of physicians, made a formal request last night for exhumation of their father's body.

A statement by Dr. Gowen was one reason given by Henry E. Ayers, assistant state's attorney in charge of the inquiry, for believing exhumation advisable. Dr. Gowen arrived at the hospital operating room just as an operation was being completed upon Burnham the day before he died.

Mrs. Burnham Showed Fear

"I asked Mrs. Burnham why she didn't let me know her husband was ill," Dr. Gowen said. "Her answer was: 'Oh, I suppose you think I killed him.'"

Previous statements by persons close to the Burnham household had recited the same fear by Mrs. Burnham that she might be blamed for her husband's death.

Riley Came Into Power

Further details of the part played in the Burnham affairs by Edward T. Riley, who assumed management of Mrs. Burnham's business interests last fall, were given by Mrs. Roland Collins of Palo Alto, Calif., a sister of the dead woman. She visited Mrs. Burnham "while Riley was in power," she said.

Mrs. Collins declared Riley was constantly warning Mrs. Burnham that her fortune was in danger, and that mysterious persons were at work to obtain her money.

She said Riley is an alias, and that when he first met Mrs. Burnham in May, 1928, he described himself as "a soldier of fortune" and a government spy.

When Mrs. Collins visited her sister last November she said she found Mrs. Burnham suspicious of Riley. It was shortly afterward that the widow turned over 55 percent of the slot machine company holdings to Riley, with the added stipulation that he was to have the entire estate when she died. Disposition of Mrs. Burnham's estate has encountered difficulties through failure of efforts to reveal a will. A law firm said such a will had been drawn, and produced a copy of it. A will signed in 1920 by Mr. and Mrs. Burnham provided she was to inherit her husband's estate, in the event he was the first to die, and that upon her death it was to go to her stepdaughters, Mrs. Ballard and Mrs. Gowen.

Dig Up Burnham's Record

In an effort to get to the bottom of hints of blackmail, authorities learned that Burnham was twice married. What he had been sued for alienation and that he once was arrested on serious charges involving a young woman who died before the birth of her child.

Investigators said that Burnham had lost large sums gambling during his life time and that his widow, too, frequented Chicago and suburban gambling houses.

Young Man Hung For Killing Woman Who Had Befriended Him

Folsom Prison, Calif., Feb. 8.—(AP)—Praying aloud and walking unassisted, Harrison Randolph, 24, went calmly to his death on the gallows here at 10 o'clock this morning. The trap was sprung at 10:03 and Randolph was pronounced dead at 10:16.

Randolph paid the penalty for the murder of Mrs. Pearl Hunnicutt in her Bakersfield home three months ago. He confessed that he strangled the woman to death after she had befriended him.

The execution was witnessed by approximately fifty men, including guards, newspapermen and police officers. One fainted after the trap was sprung.

There was no hitch in the execution procedure. Randolph went unhesitatingly to the gallows and stood quietly while the noose was adjusted. An instant later the trap was sprung and the slayer dropped to his death.

Several days ago the slayer made certain requests for the disposition of his few personal effects. His body has been claimed by relatives and probably will be returned to his mother at Lincoln.

WILD LIFE IS SUFFERING AS ICE STAYS ON

Stray Cats are Making Inroads on Coveys of Quail

Cats are eating quail and crows are eating rabbit, reports State Game Warden Henry Keister, who returned last evening from a game inspection trip in the south and west sections of Lee county. Stray cats are taking advantage of the coveys of quail which are being fed, and are killing the birds. One cat tastes quail, the covey is in danger of early extermination, it is said.

Crows that are facing starvation, have discovered that rabbits make a suitable food, now that the ground is covered with ice, the warden reports. The crows watch for a sleeping rabbit who has not selected a protected napping place and the cotton-tail is quickly devoured.

RESERVE BOARD'S WARNING RECEIVES CONGRESS' NOTICE

Members of House and the Senate Ask Why Warning Was Issued

Washington, Feb. 8.—(AP)—While legislative activities of congress remained centered on appropriations measures, two developments at the capital today reflected further interest in the recent stand by the Federal Reserve Board against the lending of funds for speculation.

The question reached both the Senate and House in resolutions for inquiries. Senator Heflin, Democrat, Alabama, cited the board's complaint, asked for its reason for increasing the rediscount rate and for suggestions "to prevent illegitimate and harmful speculation." A move by him for immediate consideration of the proposal was blocked by Vice-President-elect Curtis, as majority leader.

In the House, Representative Black, Democrat, New York, introduced a resolution which sought specifically to learn what preceded the reserve board's warning against loans by brokers. "The proposal would give responsibility for the investigation to the House banking committee, whose chairman, Representative McFadden, of Pennsylvania, yesterday declared the board had gone beyond its authority in the instance involved."

Appropriation Bills.

Procedure permitting efforts to amend the $347,000,000 navy appropriations bill was followed by the House, after almost a week's debate on the measure, meanwhile the senate still had the $447,000,000 war department appropriations before it; but members dealt with minor legislation at the outset of the session.

Having heard increases of various wool levies advocated, the House Ways and Means committee today received opposition to any advance in the raw wool tariff. William Goldman, New York clothing manufacturers' representative, contended the present rates already placed a large tax on the consumer.

A senator, Smith of South Carolina, testified before the House rules committee in favor of assuring early House action on the Senate bill authorizing $6,000,000 loans to farmers in southeastern storm ravaged states.

Several other southern members of congress backed him; and the committee voted to give the bill right of way. Former Senator Rice Means explained to another House committee his opposition to the Johnson bill, which would consolidate governmental veterans activities under the Veterans Bureau.

Gas and Coke Now Comes From Central Plant at Sterling

The central gas plant of the Illinois Northern Utilities company at Sterling not only supplies Dixon patrons of the company with fuel and light which is carried in a pipe line to Dixon, but 157 car loads of coke from the same plant was shipped to this city last year, the company's records show. A total of 2,532 tons of coke was consigned to Dixon users from the central plant in 1928 and during the summer months a car load of coke was turned out daily. The coke which was shipped from the Sterling central plant was formerly a product of the Dixon plant which has been discontinued.

Eamon De Valera Is Imprisoned by North Ireland for Trespass

Belfast, Northern Ireland, Feb. 8.—(AP)—Eamon De Valera, noted republican leader, was sentenced to one month's imprisonment today for attempting to enter Northern Ireland in contravention of an order of seven years standing.

The magistrate in the first division in sentencing the leader of the opposition in the Irish Free State Daily, said that De Valera was really trying to flout the law of Ulster.

Terse Items of News Gathered in Dixon During Day

DRUNKEN DRIVER FINED

Earl Johnson of Malone, Iowa, was arrested last evening about 7 o'clock after he had driven his car into a ditch near Nelson. This morning the attorneys presented their closing arguments to the jury and the body retired at 11:30 to consider their verdict.

NOT "WET AND DRY"

In a letter to The Telegraph Charles R. Walgreen states that the ship Col. Charles Lindbergh used in his recent flight to Central America, is not the former's old ship, "Wet and Dry," which visited Dixon.

FREEMAN FUNERAL SATURDAY

The funeral of Vernon C. Freeman, well known worker in the Mystic Workers lodge, who died at his home after a long illness Wednesday afternoon, will be held at the Rock Falls M. E. church Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. It is probable a few Dixon friends will attend.

TWO NEW CRUISERS BRITAIN RESPONSE TO U. S. PROGRAM

British Admiralty Moves Controversy With Treasury Over Finances

London, Feb. 8.—(AP)—Prospective American cruiser construction is seen in some quarters as the background for the statement of W. C. Bridgeman, First Lord of the Admiralty, yesterday that arrangements for construction of two new British cruisers were proceeding.

It is said that there was a tussle between the Treasury and the Admiralty over the question of building two cruisers this spring. The Admiralty seems to have won. Building will go forward, Mr. Bridgeman's statement is interpreted, according to the schedule laid down by the MacDonald government in 1924. That is, one cruiser will be laid down this month and one in March.

U. S. Program Stirs Them.

British papers today printed the account of the question in the House of Commons which elicited Mr. Bridgeman's statement and his reply without comment. In certain political quarters, however, it was said that Mr. Bridgeman and the Admiralty staff had been strengthened in their argument against the Treasury's plea for economy by the action of the United States senate on the cruiser bill. Cabinet opinion is understood to have been stiffened also. The entire affair follows reports in London papers three days here was to be abandoned, partly as a gesture toward disarmament and partly in deference to a treasury desire for economy.

CITY WILL CLEAR BUSINESS STREETS OF ICE AND SNOW

Special Meeting of Council Responds to Appeal of Merchants

A delegation of Dixon business men called on Mayor Frank D. Palmer this morning, calling attention to the condition of the streets in the downtown section and asking that some action be taken at once. Mayor Palmer explained that the street department's appropriation was exhausted and the amount remaining in the contingent fund was insufficient to care for the cleaning of the streets.

A special meeting of the city council, called by the Mayor, convened at 10 o'clock and was attended by the business men's delegation. Ray Kline, retiring president of the Chamber of Commerce, explained that the majority of the neighboring cities were clearing the streets in the business sections and that Dixon could not afford to permit the present bad condition to exist. He told the council that the cleaning of the streets was necessary both from a safety and damage standpoint.

In the present condition, the streets are dangerous to traffic and with a sudden thaw, there was grave danger of flooding in the downtown section. Mayor Palmer explained that anticipation warrants could be drawn to cover the expense of cleaning the streets in the business section and outlined a district beginning at Ottawa avenue and First street, west to the Hotel Dixon, and on Galena avenue from Second street to River street, with the clearing of other street intersections in the downtown district which were now in bad condition.

To Start Work Today.

Commissioner George Campbell's motion providing a fund of $500 to be used for this purpose and to be drawn from anticipation warrants, was unanimously adopted by the council. Commissioner John Loftus who is in charge of the department of streets, informed the business men that work would be started this afternoon to open the waterways and clearing the streets of as much ice and snow as is possible.

CANADIAN KILLER TO BE SENTENCED TO DEATH MONDAY

California Jury Finds that Northcott is Guilty of Murder of Three

Riverside, Calif., Feb. 8.—(AP)—Gordon Stewart Northcott, 22-year-old Canadian, today began preparations for an appeal from his conviction by a jury of the murder of three boys at his chicken ranch near here.

The jury of men last night found him guilty of slaying Lewis Winslow and his brother, of Pomona, and an unidentified Mexican youth, after a little more than two hours of deliberation. There was no recommendation for clemency, making the death penalty mandatory. Northcott received the verdict calmly and thanked the jury. He will be sentenced Monday.

In his appeal, Northcott will be aided by McKinley Cameron, Canadian lawyer who has advised him since he dismissed his American attorneys early in the trial and took over the conduct of the case himself.

Northcott was brought to trial January 2, shortly after his mother, Mrs. Sarah Northcott had pleaded guilty to complicity in the slaying of 9-year-old Walter Collins at the ranch. She was sentenced to life imprisonment. Shortly after the trial began Northcott dismissed his attorneys and began conducting his own defense. He questioned numerous witnesses and at the conclusion of his defense took the stand and denied he had killed any of the boys named in the indictments.

WOMAN FACES PRISON

Edwardsville, Ill., Feb. 8.—(AP)—Mrs. De Maris Davis, St. Louis, faces a penitentiary term of from one to twenty years as a result of her conviction in circuit court here last night of a charge of participating in the robbery January 23, 1928, of a jewelry store in Collinsville, in which $4,600 in jewelry and money was taken.

A jury found Mrs. Davis "guilty while not armed." She had denied knowledge of the robbery. Lawrence Small and James Gallagher are serving indeterminate prison sentences on pleas of guilty to complicity in the crime. Ernest Wallace is awaiting trial as the alleged fourth participant.

TO SOUTH AMERICA

Mrs. Charles Walgreen of Chicago, sister-in-law of Mrs. F. X. Newcomer of this city, sailed Saturday from New York with Mrs. Helen Midd for a visit with the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Meyer. The voyage will occupy eighteen days.

Former Sec. of Navy Died Early Today in Detroit

EDWIN DENBY

Former Secretary of the Navy, who died from heart trouble this morning in Detroit.

DENBY, FORMER NAVY SECRETARY, DIED SUDDENLY

'Sea Going Secretary' Was Involved in Teapot Dome Scandal

Detroit, Mich., Feb. 8.—(AP)—Edwin Denby, former Secretary of the Navy, and one of the figures whose political career was abruptly terminated by the Teapot Dome scandal, died at his home in the Whittier apartments here this morning. Death resulted from a heart attack.

Denby, one of the most popular figures in public life at the time of the oil scandal, was 59 years old. While he had been in poor health during recent weeks, announcement of his death this morning was a distinct shock to his friends here.

Following his resignation from the cabinet the "Sea Going Secretary" of the Navy" as he was termed, returned to Detroit and resumed his banking, industrial and legal activities.

Insisted He Was Right

Although he virtually was compelled to resign from the cabinet as a result of the Teapot Dome affair, Denby did not attempt to place any of the responsibility that was charged to him upon the shoulders of anyone else. Blamed mainly for agreeing to the leasing of the naval oil reserves, Denby insisted his action had been for the best interests of the country.

Denby arose as usual shortly before 8 o'clock this morning but complained of feeling ill. A physician was summoned but before he could arrive, the former navy secretary was dead.

Hubert Howell Gets Order For New Organ

Additional success is crowning the efforts of Hubert Howell, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. N. Howell, Dixon's youthful and talented organ builder. His second pipe organ, built in the Christian church, was recently dedicated. Hubert has contracted to build a six-unit organ for the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon B. Ackerman of Mt. Carroll. The organ, on which he has started work, will have 48 stops, and its construction will halt work on his third instrument, which he has been building at his parents' home. He has recently completed adding pipes for a stop to the $30,000 Wurlitzer organ in the Belmont theater, Chicago, and has been engaged to make a similar addition to it later.

Another Girl Plans To Break Records in The English Channel

Brighton, Eng.—(AP)—Despite icy winds and cold seas, the first woman channel swimmer of the 1929 season has started training here.

She is 21-year-old Miss Connie Gilhead of the London Polytechnic Institute, and she has been chosen by Jabez Wolfe, the trainer out of 300 applicants, to attempt to set up a new channel record next summer.

Miss Gilhead is following a rigid training. Her regime starts with daily dips in the frigid sea, scientific exercise and diet are also part of her program.

She has discarded silk stockings and chifon frocks for a tweed skirt, a heavy woolen sweater and woolen stockings.

"I have even given up smoking," she said.

No country can approach Canada in the use of the plane in protective forest patrol.

Evening Telegraph City Subscribers will confer a great favor to their news boy by having 20c ready for the boy each Saturday morning when he calls to collect.

INAUGURATION OF HOOVER A COLORFUL DAY

Governors of 22 States Coming With Big Retinues

Washington, Feb. 8.—(AP)—Promise of variety and color in the presidential inauguration ceremonies has assumed definite proportions with the announcement by the inaugural committee that 22 state Governors have reserved space for themselves and retinues in the parade.

At the same time, the committee announced other entertainment features on the tentative program of events—among them being concerts, air stunts by army and navy flyers, and a great display of fireworks on the mall.

Many of the executives, the committee said, will come with escorts garbed in gay uniforms. The Governor of Alabama will be accompanied by two companies of foot soldiers from the state national guard and a band of 53 pieces. From Delaware, New Jersey and Virginia, artillerymen and cavalrymen will come with their chiefs. The Governor of Virginia will have 450 members of the Richmond Blues, the Richmond Howitzers and the Richmond Grays, and a life and drum corps.

Many Other Delegations.

In the second division of the parade, the committee announced sixteen additional military and civic units already have been assigned positions. Among them is a delegation from the San Diego Army and Navy Academy of Pacific Beach, Cal., and one from Coe College, at Cedar Rapids, Iowa.

The tentative program of public entertainment is to begin two days before the inauguration. On March 2 the navy yard will be thrown open to visitors. The army and navy on this day will stage an air circus over the city, and there will be a riding circus at Fort Myer, Virginia.

On Sunday, March 3, special services will be held in all Washington churches. There will be a pilgrimage to the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier in the afternoon, with a concert in the evening.

Monday will be given to the inaugural ceremonies, with the parade and the charity ball in the evening.

AUTHENTICITY OF PAINTING CAUSES SUIT FOR $500,000

Artist Says Blacksmith's Daughter is a Bum Forgery

New York, Feb. 8.—(AP)—One beautiful blacksmith's daughter is far from plucky, in the opinion of a noted art expert. In fact he thinks she has a clumsy neck, a dead eye and other repellent characteristics.

The reasons which caused Sir Joseph Duven to declare the painting "La Belle Ferroniere," owned by Mrs. Andre Hahn, a copy and not the work of Leonardo da Vinci were on record in supreme court today.

Sir Joseph is being sued for $500,000 by Mrs. Hahn for slander.

Under questioning by S. Lawrence Miller, counsel for Mrs. Hahn, Sir Joseph said he could not now see the "Hatchings" or lines in the canvases, which he had described in his detailed answer to the suit. He also said that at one time some question had been raised as to the authenticity of "La Belle Ferroniere" in the Louvre.

It was because he believed the Louvre painting to be genuine Da Vinci that he had declared in a newspaper interview in 1920 that Mrs. Hahn's was a copy even though he never had seen it.

Sir Joseph was asked by Mr. Miller to explain his previous statement that the neck of the lady in the Hahn painting was "a clumsy cylinder of flesh."

"Whoever painted the Hahn portrait did not understand the theory of light and shadow nor did he understand anatomy," replied Sir Joseph.

"The flesh doesn't look like flesh. It's an attempt to paint flesh, but the color and the lines are both incorrect. Had it been the handiwork of Leonardo you would feel that it was flesh."

Mr. Miller then took up his criticism of the eyes of the Hahn painting which Sir Joseph had declared "Leadens and lifeless." He asked whether in his opinion both eyes were equally laden and lifeless.

"The left eye has a little life," Sir Joseph replied, but he continued, "the right is dead, dead, very dead."

Mrs. Hahn alleges that Sir Joseph's statement in 1920 ruined a pending sale of her painting to the Kansas City Institute for $250,000.

Good Thoughts for Good People

Happy is the man that findeth wisdom, and the man that getteth understanding. . . Length of days is in his right hand; and in his left hand riches and honour. . . She is a tree of life to them that lay hold upon her: and happy is every one that retaineth her. The Lord by wisdom hath founded the earth; by understanding hath he established the heavens.

A grain of gold will gild a great surface, but not so much as a grain of wisdom.

The stream from Wisdom's well, which God supplies, is inexhaustible.

—Bayard Taylor.

As experience has often shown, wisdom by no means necessarily follows the attainment of merely materialistic erudition. . . Since material knowledge is not the basis from which true wisdom may be unfolded, it is necessary to look to God, omniscience, as the origin of both wisdom and spiritual knowledge.

OFF FROM WORK, IN AGONY WHEN HE GOT GLY-CAS

Nothing to Compare With Great Herbal Medicine, Mr. Corbett Tells Friends Now.

Year after year, praise for Gly-Cas continues throughout this section as local people and residents from other cities tell of complete relief from stomach, liver, bowel, blood, nerve troubles, neuritis, rheumatism gained through it, many declaring that never before has anything like this great herbal remedy, in concentrated form, been offered suffering humanity. Mr. Richard Corbett, 215 N. Eighth St., Richmond, Ind., recently said:

"There are many so-called rheumatism 'remedies,' but none of them compares with the Gly-Cas. I was suffering so badly with rheumatism in my back that it was almost impossible for me to get up or down and when these terrible pains struck, I don't believe I'd have suffered any more if someone had taken a knife and thrust it into my body. For a long time I had been off from work and all the different medicines I tried did me no good at all. But when I began taking the Gly-Cas, things changed for me and I realized this medicine was taking hold of my case and relieving my suffering. I am back at work now and every ache and pain is gone from my body. No longer do I suffer in any way from the former painful rheumatism and I am conscientiously tell anyone, troubled as I was to get the Gly-Cas and take it for I personally know what it will do."

Former Nurse Becomes Bride

Mendota, Feb. 7 — Wednesday morning at 8 o'clock at the Holy Cross Catholic Church, occurred the marriage of Leo Glaser of Sublette and Miss Clara Weber of Mendota. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Father William F. Seik, pastor of the church. The bride was attended by her sister, Louise Weber, and the bridegroom by his brother, Kenneth. The bride was dressed in pink georgette and carried a bouquet of roses. The bridesmaid was dressed in white and carried a bouquet of white roses.

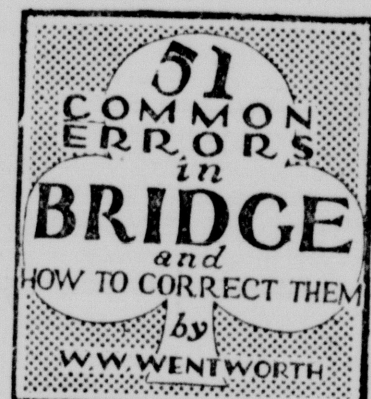

The bride is a daughter of Adam Weber and is well known as she was formerly a trained nurse at St. Mary's hospital in La Salle and at St. Margaret's hospital in Spring Valley.

The bridegroom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. William Glaser of Sublette and is engaged in farming. They will make their home on a farm near Sublette.

Both young people have friends in Lee county who extend best wishes at this time.

RELIEF CORPS WILL MEET MONDAY EVENING

The Bidding: South bids no-trump and all pass.

Deciding the Play: West leads Jack of hearts and the trick is won with Queen of hearts. How should Declarer play to insure game?

The Error: Declarer leads Ace of diamonds; then he plays 6 of diamonds and overtakes with King of diamonds. He then finesesses Queen of clubs and now it is at a loss as to how to finesse King of clubs.

The Correct Method: To make game Declarer must make two club tricks. To establish the two clubs by finessing, Declarer requires two re-entries in Dummy. He has one re-entry in King of diamonds and the other re-entry will in all probability be found in 8 of diamonds. Declarer should first play 9 of diamonds. Then he should finesse the club suit with Queen of diamonds. After that 6 of diamonds is led and overtaken with 8 of diamonds. Finesse King of clubs will now enable the Declarer to frame.

The Principle: When holding eight cards of a suit evenly divided, two re-entries may often be established if blocking is avoided.

Annual Ladies Night At Elks Club Enjoyed

The annual Ladies Night at the Elks club last evening was a great success. Each year the Elks entertain the ladies with a banquet, followed by an evening of entertainment. Last evening there were about two hundred in attendance, and a most appetizing banquet was served, from beautifully appointed tables. The dining room had been decorated in the spirit of St. Valentine and his colors of red and white were emphasized, the wide red strip in the center of the cloth, accented the pure white of the cloth. Cut flowers graced the tables, and candles. Favors were in Valentine forms and colors and were very pretty.

The entertainment for the evening following the banquet was in charge of Mrs. Charles Bishop who accompanied John Ward of Sterling in several beautiful solos. He was heartily enjoyed. Past Exalted Ruler Harry Warner gave a most facetious and congratulatory talk to the ladies and this was much enjoyed. He was enthusiastically applauded. Miss Lulu Kelley, gave with her chorus of high school girls, several beautifully executed numbers. She sang and danced the solo parts in her graceful and inimitable manner, and was joined in the choruses by her well-trained girls, all reflecting much credit on themselves and their young teacher. They were encored. Mrs. Bishop played the accompaniments for these selections, and she also played for Miss Neff who gave a cleverly executed acrobatic dance and was encored.

After the entertainment bridge was played. Mrs. Harry Hintz being presented the favor for high honors. Mrs. Charles Bishop received the second favor and Mrs. Elmer Jones received the consolation favor.

The entire evening was one of much pleasure to all attending. All committees are to be congratulated on the success of the same.

Found Guilty of Murder on Word of Man He Sent to Pen

Lincoln, Ill., Feb. 8—(AP)—A jury here today found Jefferson Booker, 20, guilty of the murder of Ephraim Vannoy, 66, Gold Springs reclus.

He was sentenced to twenty-five years in Chester penitentiary. He was sentenced on the evidence of his partner in crime, "Nig" Minick, who last November was convicted on Booker's testimony.

Booker escaped the electric chair by a unanimous vote of the jury, but was found guilty by the same vote.

Five jurors held out long for life imprisonment, and at 9 o'clock this morning reached a compromise of twenty-five years.

Booker's only comment was that it was "pretty hard."

"Nig" Minick, brought here from Chester penitentiary to testify that Booker fired the shot gun at the old reclus in his tent near Atlanta, was on the way back to prison this morning. He rejoiced that Booker would follow him shortly. In the trial he recalled that he was convicted on Booker's testimony that he had fired the fatal shot.

Vannoy was killed because of the reputation of miser he had. The murderers procured nothing. The day before Vannoy had given his nephew the only $17 he had because it was unsafe to keep it in his tent.

Two weeks was taken in getting a jury to try Booker, breaking the local county record.

SLEIGH BELLS. AFTER the ceaseless whir and monotone of scudding motors with their raucous cries.

The trolley's strident intermittent groan. Broken by shrieks and harsh cacophonies;

How bright and lightsome are the sleigh bells clear. Chiming in the crisp air of morning early.

A soothing music that beguiles the ear. After the harsh, unmeaning hurly-burly.

No two alike: This one more slowly ringing. The sleepy horse still drowses—snow-clogged feet.

But yonder clouds of powdery snow out-flinging. The eager hoofs dance in proud rhythmic beat.

Thoughts of old winsome days are echoing. In these keen bells, though now the humble sleigh.

May be the little tradesman's come to bring. The simple necessities of the day.

But oh, the picture! silken tassels red. And cheeks as red stung by the bitter blow.

Steeds prancing, gay bells on each tossing head. Pouring their silver on the crystal snow?

THE FRONTIER SPIRIT.

We like to say that we have left the frontier a long way behind us. Our grandfathers, living in isolated wilderness settlements, used to have to battle mightily every winter with snow, cold and loneliness, but we have a habit of saying that all of that sort of thing is buried in the past. Automobiles, telephones, good roads and a rapidly increasing population—so they tell us—have set us free.

Maybe so. But there are still plenty of places in the United States where a winter blizzard calls for just as much fortitude, endurance and bravery as it did two generations ago. The frontier, at times, is nearer than we think.

A terrific snowstorm struck the northwest recently. In Idaho the drifts were 10 feet deep. Roads were impassable; a high wind and bitter cold added to the difficulties of dwellers in lonely ranches.

At the height of the storm the daughter of a stockman was stricken with acute appendicitis. The nearest surgeon was 30 miles away, at the town of Cottonwood.

The father put his daughter in a covered sleigh and started out. All day they fought the blizzard. By night they had made so little headway that they had to turn back.

Somewhat they got word to some neighbors. The next morning a handful of cowboys appeared. Driving their animals ahead of the sleigh, the cowboys plunged to their necks in the drifted snow to break a path for the sleigh. Throughout the day they kept at it. The sleigh moved forward by inches. Men and horses forced themselves to keep at it to the limit of their endurance. Bravely and painfully, they made their way the long 30-mile stretch of blocked roads to the town of Cottonwood.

Finally, late at night, they passed the last of the drifts and reached the town. The girl was operated on and the surgeon said she would recover.

That sort of thing used to be commonplace in America. In the old days every small town in the northern part of the country took such experiences as part of the regular winter routine.

Naturally, such conditions called for physical endurance and courage. No race of weaklings could survive in such circumstances. It is probably true that a good part of what we like to consider our typically American energy, fortitude and daring are the product of the rigorous training school of the old-fashioned winter.

Such things don't happen as often as they used to. They are the exception now, and not the rule. But it is comforting to see that when they do happen, people are still capable of meeting them. The ability to face cold, darkness and storm is one of our most valuable heritages. So long as we continue to possess it we can retain our old pride in our birthright. The countless Idaho cowboys have served us all. They have proved that the strain of the hard frontiersmen is still strong.

JACK RABBIT'S SPEED.

How fast does a jack rabbit travel when he really puts his mind to it? Mark Twain used to assert that the jack rabbit could outdistance a desert gale if he chose to. Of all the animals of the plain, he said, only the coyote could give the jack rabbit a face. The case with which one of these picturesque, long-eared rovers outdistanced one of Mark Twain's best dogs apparently left a deep impression on the famous humorist's mind.

A westerner recently was driving along a country road in an auto when a jack rabbit popped up in front of him and began loping along just ahead of his car. For several miles it kept this up, staying in front without effort even when the car reached a speed of 35 miles an hour. At last it turned aside—not winded, but simply satiated with the game.

So we have that much of a gauge, at least. Thirty-five miles an hour, for a rabbit, is no mean speed. And evidently the creature had more in reserve.

About the only names not noticed thus far on the lists of those Hoover probably will appoint cabinet members are Harry Daugherty and Albert B. Fall.

Before Einstein reached his theory that the earth and all are only an optical illusion, he must have spent considerable time studying the habits and manners of backseat drivers.

With all the bunch spread on the ground, the bear stopped short and turned around. He almost seemed to smile a bit to see the funny sight. Said Scouty, "Well, just look back there. I see our friend, the big black bear. He hasn't run away from us I guess that he's all right."

"He's waiting for us, like as not," exclaimed on little Trouble Tot. "Come on and hop up to your feet. We'll try our luck once more. It seems to me it would be dumb to walk to where we came from. You will admit a dandy ride is better, now and then."

"Oh, no," cried Clowny. "That bear's rough. I think that I have had enough. The rest of you can ride upon his back, but not for me. I'll lead the way, if he'll run slow, and I can show him where to go. If he just runs haphazard there's no telling where we'll be."

So Clowny led the way with care, back to the owner of the bear. "Ha, ha," the old man laughed. "I'll bet you all took quite a spill." "You're right," snapped Coppy, "but 'twas fun. We don't feel bad for what we've done. It didn't hurt when we slipped off. In fact it was a thrill!"

And then they heard the old man sigh. Said he, "I'll have to say good-bye. But ere I go I'll tell you of some fun that you'll all like. Here are some fishies. It would seem they'll come in nice for yonder stream." He turned the fishies over, and then started on his hike.

Down to the stream the whole band ran. Said Clowny, "I'll just bet I can pull out the largest fish of all." The next thing that they knew, their lines were hanging very low. Then Clowny loudly shouted, "Oh!" He'd hooked a fish real quick, and it was a dandy, too.

With Honce on His Trip Around State of Illinois

By CHARLES HONCE

(Associated Press News Editor)

Decatun, Ill., Feb. 8.—(AP)—The scene is the Decatur public square;

the time early in the last century;

the center of attraction a man bearing the Whig party from an improvised rostrum in a farm wagon.

The sound of cheering goes out to a tall, angular young man ploughing with a yoke of oxen in a neighboring field. Interested, the youth drops his plow, leaps the fence and presently has joined the circle of listeners in the square.

As the speaker finishes, the youth, aggravated at the jibes directed at the Whigs, springs upon the splinty stump of an old tree and launches into a speech of his own upholding the party.

The Whig champion is Abraham Lincoln and at this moment he is making his first political speech.

And, continues a chronicler of this historic incident, "the knot of listeners was held spellbound and afterwards cheered him heartily."

That is why the public square now is known as Lincoln Square and also why the name of the emancipator has a special significance to Decatur.

When Lincoln came to Illinois, Decatur was his first home and here he split rails and handled a plow.

There is no farm land today within cheering distance of the square. Instead it is surrounded by tall buildings identified with the civic and industrial life of a modern city of 60,000, and taller ones soon are to appear. The steel skeleton of a baby skyscraper of twelve stories will push skyward at one corner of the square this year, while a fourteen floor office building of a manufacturing plant is under way a short distance from the downtown quarter.

Decatur, which takes pride in the fact that it is one of the fastest growing cities in the state, envisions the time when it will have a population of 150,000 and it is building for the future.

There are men of large vision here and they are not afraid to tackle large problems and deal in huge sums of money. When it was necessary to provide Decatur with a new water supply more than $2,250,000 was expended in running a steel and concrete dam across the Sangamon river to create a water-impounding reservoir. The formation of this

3,600 acre lake with a storage capacity of nine billion gallons involved the raising of a bridge across the Sangamon and other vast engineering problems. An interesting fact in connection with this project is that $1,000,000 of the money required to carry on the work was subscribed by citizens of Decatur for a privately organized water company.

The result is that Decatur not only has a water supply for a city of 150,000, but a lake fourteen miles long and nearly a mile wide, bordered by parks and boulevards and providing a recreation center for the city. Decatur also was one of the first cities in the state to construct a sewage disposal plant; vast sewer projects involving an outlay of $2,500,000 are under way or under consideration; a junior high school is being erected and a new one has just been contracted for; and three railroads here are planning an electric belt line connecting up one of Decatur's biggest industries and opening a new industrial area. The latter project involves a subway under railroad tracks and other engineering features to cost $200,000.

Other vital industrial statistics are flung at you here by the yard. For instance, there are the city's 135 industries with a payroll of $14,000,000. The Wabash railroad alone employs 3,350 men and pays out $4,000,000 yearly. In the last five years, the Chamber of Commerce notes, that Decatur added 7,561 to its population and 3,310 acres to its area, spent more than $24,000,000 on new buildings and constructed 3,044 homes. The total value of home building in 1928 alone was placed at $4,000,000.

Many nationally advertised products go out of here, including corn products, plumbing supplies and the output of brass, iron, steel, brick, wood-working and garment industries. The largest independent corn products plant in the world grinds 50,000 bushels of corn a day and 99 percent of that corn comes from Illinois fields.

But all of Decatur's statistics are not industrial. Just this week Governor Emerson is dedicating the new Masonic Temple here. This stone structure of sound architectural line cost three quarters of a million dollars. Architecture of distinction also was employed on James Millikin University, which was dedicated in 1903 by Theodore Roosevelt. Many additional buildings have been added to the original four since that time and the student enrollment has grown steadily with the years.

Decatur has much to say of its historic past. Here was founded the Grand Army of the Republic. The story is interesting. One morning in April, 1866 Decatur residents were puzzled at seeing the letters G. A. R. in many windows. Twelve men had met the night before to organize the body that later was to cover the country. Benjamin Franklin Stephenson, who had been a surgeon in the army, suggested the name. A monument commemorating the event will be found on Pennsylvania avenue in Washington.

Decatur, named, of course, after Commodore Stephen Decatur, came into being as a trading post in 1816. It was not given its name and established as the county seat of Macon county, however, until 1829. Three commissioners handled these details, ordered the city platted and established a tax rate. Revenue for 1829 amounted to $109.32 1-2 and came from a one-half percent tax levied on "pleasure carriages, distilleries, stock in trade, horses, mules, asses and all cattle over three years old; on watches with their appendages; on slaves and indentured or registered negro servants; and on all personal property except the lawful firearms of each individual."

The commission also set the tavern rates and incidentally collected $4 from James Renshaw who was granted the first tavern license.

Here are the prices that the commissioners figured were fair: "For breakfast and horse feed 37 1-2 cents; for keeping a man and his horse 62 1-2 cents a night; for brandy, rum, gin, wine or cordial, 25 cents a pint; and for whiskey

OUR BOARDING HOUSE

BY AHERNS

and cider brandy 12 1-2 cents a pint."

Decatur's first court house, a log cabin built in 1829 is still preserved here in Fairview Park. Within its doors Lincoln once studied law.

Decatur, to return to modern note, is served by two newspapers, the Review and The Herald, and through twenty-four hours The Associated Press pours a steady stream of news into this central Illinois city. W. F. Hardy is the member of The Associated Press for The Herald and H. C. Schaub is The Associated Press member for The Review.

INCOME TAXES PROVIDED FOR IN LANTZ' BILL

Would Provide Another Means of Taxation in This State

Springfield Ill., Feb. 8.—(AP)—Approved by the Illinois Senate two years ago, but smothered in the last minute jam in the House, an income tax bill has been re-introduced in the Senate by Senator Simon E. Lantz of Congerville. Its provisions are identical with those of the bill offered the last Assembly.

Lantz's bill, which has the support of the Illinois Bankers' Association, would impose a tax upon the net income of all persons who are residents of Illinois and also non-residents whose incomes originate in the state. It proposes a tax of one per cent on incomes not over $5,000; two per cent on incomes between $5,000 and $10,000 and three per cent on incomes over $10,000.

Exemptions are provided. Single persons might exempt $1,000, married persons or couples $2,000 with $500 addition for each dependent. Proceeds of insurance policies, the income from federal, state or municipal bonds, property acquired by gift or inherited, and salaries received from the federal government would not be taxable. General property taxes would be deductible, but not special assessments.

States which allow exemption to citizens of Illinois would be granted exemptions for citizens of that state. Income from trust estates would be taxed.

Would Go To Schools

Returns would be made April 15 and the tax paid at the same time. Administered by the Auditor of Public Accounts, proceeds of the tax would go to the common school fund to reduce or replace the levy on property for that purpose, with expenses of administration deductible. A penalty of a fine not exceeding $1,000, on year in the county jail, or both, is provided for making improper disclosures as to the amount of income, the return, or tax paid. State employees violating the provisions of the act would be subject to dismissal.

Information the bill provides might be exchanged by the auditor with United States officials or officials of other states, if the same privilege is accorded tax collecting officials in Illinois.

Opposition to the bill has been expressed by Dwight S. Robb, Chicago lawyer, in a statement criticizing the attitude of the Illinois Bankers' Association in supporting the bill.

"It seems to be that a state income tax will increase, rather than lessen the burden of taxation," he said.

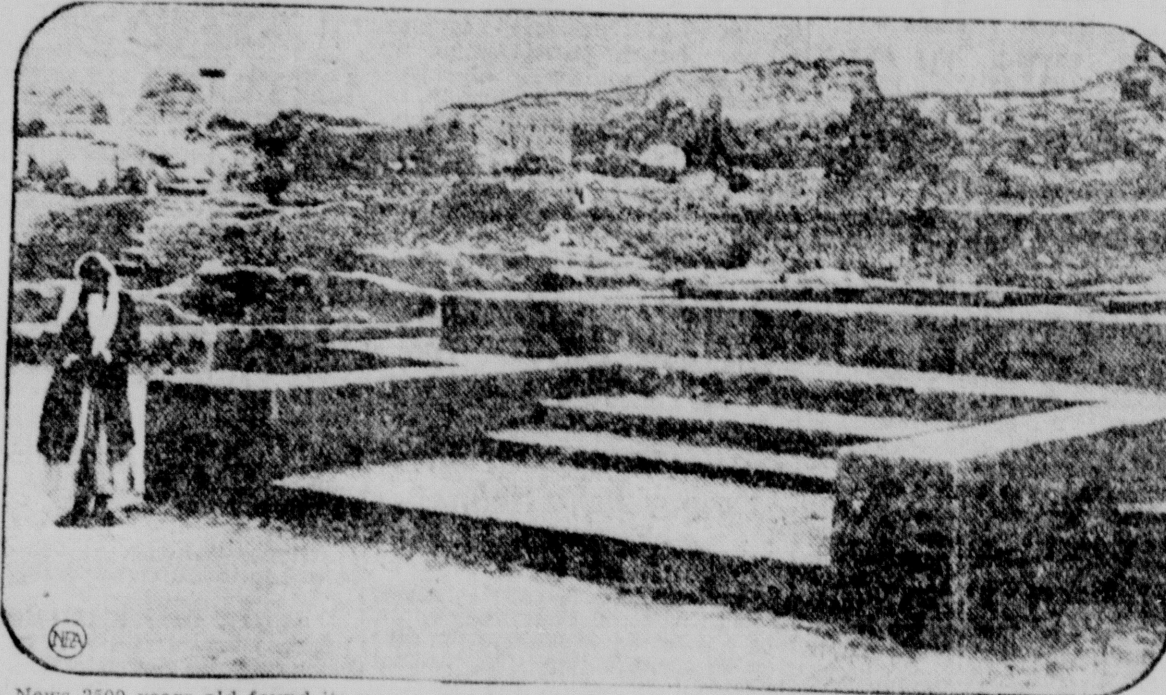

"As nearly as I am advised, in Wisconsin and other states where it has been tried out, instead of supplanting any other tax it seems to me that a prospect of such additional revenue would cause politicians to set about to create commissions, establish additional offices and make many useless expenditures in order to strengthen their machines. While the rate might be small at first, it would in all probability be increased until it became a very heavy burden. I think our system of taxation is in sad need of reform, but it strikes me that we ought to discover a better way, if possible, than by income tax."

"I sure was right — I lit a Lucky"

"So many people have made a fuss over me because in rowing back to the 'America,' after we had picked up the 'Florida' survivors, I was smoking a Lucky Strike. I can't see why there should be any excitement about this—it was the natural thing for me to do. Before we started out from the 'America' I made sure that my pack of Luckies was with me—I wanted the comfort and pleasure of Luckies no matter what happened. I sure was right. I'll have to admit that after we picked up the 'Florida' crew and started back, my nerves were completely let down. So I did the thing I always do at such times—I lit a Lucky. As long as I live, I'll never get another kick as I did from the sweet old toasted flavor of that Lucky as we were tossing about on the old Atlantic. I'm a hundred percenter when it comes to 'reach for a Lucky' instead of a sweet. I lay off the things that would make me flabby and light up a Lucky instead. There's too much action going on in my life to have me moving around with a lot of excess weight which I don't need. There's another thing about Luckies. The toasting process, in removing the impurities, is a blessing to us who follow the sea. It prevents throat irritation which is a constant nuisance to those who are regularly exposed to salt air."

Hooks and Slides

A FEW MATTERS OF OPINION

The good people of Akron were aroused in civic wrath over the decision that gave Jack Sharkey the fight with their K. O. Christner. Some of them were aroused to the extent of writing to the editors about it.

One wrathful citizen referred to the fact that a Cleveland writer gave his decision to Christner and he remarked:

"I know this writer personally and I know that he is one big league sports writer that it not on the Madison Square Garden payroll. Those boys down east get a rakeoff from the Garden and have to write what the management dictates. Say, I've been around myself and I know the boxing game from top to bottom. You can't kid me. Don't worry, I'm not going to ruin my eastern business connections by spilling any inside stuff."

"But I communicated with some of my friends down east. Yes, they were gamblers. They told me after the fight that Sharkey was instructed to stay on his feet and keep away from Christner and he would get the decision anyway."

Another citizen who saw the fight pounded out a letter to the editor in which he said:

"Of course, we all looked at the fight through Akron glasses and not at all from the same viewpoint of the New York sports writers, who I contend are in one way or another subsidized by Madison Square Garden interests."

ATHLETES WILL GET INTO PLAY IN CONFERENCE

Semester Examinations
Out of Way: Active in Many Branches

By PAUL R. MICKELSON
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

Chicago, Feb. 8.—(AP)—Big Ten athletes, who have been fighting semester examinations for the past three weeks, come back into their own again tomorrow with the live-line sports program since the mole-skins were tucked away last autumn.

More than a score of important attractions are on the day's program, bringing into action basketball players, cinder path artists, swimmers, gymnasts, and hockey stars.

With the basketball championship race tightened up, three cage contests held the greatest interest. Michigan, which is leading the chase with four victories and no defeats, clashes with Ohio State's erratic tossers in the headline attraction at Ann Arbor, while Indiana invades Iowa, and Illinois clashes with Chicago here. Ohio State may upset Michigan as the Wolverines have been idle since January 14 when they had a hard time defeating Illinois, a second division team. Indiana and Iowa are both badly crippled and a close battle is anticipated. Chicago hasn't won a conference game yet and isn't expected to begin by defeating Illinois.

Three track meets, which are expected to show which way the 1929 indoor bunting is flying, will be held. Wisconsin's team meets Iowa at Iowa City; Chicago, which appears to have its strongest team in years, tackles Purdue at Lafayette, while Indiana meets its old foe, Notre Dame, at South Bend. Several indoor records may be shattered. Weaver, Chicago's shot put ace, broke a Bartlett gymnasium mark of 18 years standing with the 16 pound shot as he and his mates trounced tennies in a dual meet last Saturday here and may crack some Purdue marks, at least tomorrow.

A intersectional tinge is given the wrestling card as Illinois invades the University of West Virginia for a dual meet. Iowa clashes with Minnesota. Wisconsin meets Northwestern today and Chicago tomorrow, while Purdue tangles with Ohio State's grapples at Columbus.

Three dual swimming meets also are on the program. They are Michigan at Minnesota, Purdue at Illinois and Iowa at Wisconsin. Northwestern's great team means while is on the first leg of its Pacific coast invasion during which it will meet eight college and athletic club teams.

Wisconsin's winter sports athletes were seeking honors at the Frolic and Sports Festival at Wausau, Wis., while most of those of other Big Ten schools had non-conference events slated.

Found Still Near Morris Country Club

Morris, Ill., Feb. 8.—(AP)—Federal agents working with Sheriff Harry Jones discovered a 250 gallon still in a timber hollow near the Morris Country Club and arrested Martin Tehan, watchman.

A two story building hidden from the road was cleared out inside to accommodate the still. No liquor was found, but there was an odor of mash. A truck and sedan near the building was taken to indicate that dismantling of the still was contemplated, by the operators, probably frightened by the LaSalle County liquor clean up raids. Officers are investigating ownership of the building.

Singer and Taylor Clash This Evening

New York, Feb. 8.—(AP)—Al Singer, young New Yorker, and Bud Taylor, the Blonde Terror from Terre Haute, battle ten rounds at Madison Square Garden tonight in the second round of a featherweight elimination tournament designed to find a challenger for Andre Routs, the title-holder.

The survivor of tonight's bout is to meet Tony Canzoneri for the right to face Routs in a championship test.

Tilden and Hunter to Go on Their Own

New York, Feb. 8.—(AP)—Big Bill Tilden and Frank Hunter, mainstays of several Davis Cup teams, will stage an international jaunt of their own this year instead of helping the American team through the preliminary competition in the American zone. Believing that Tilden will be reinstated by the executive committee of the United States Lawn Tennis Association at its meeting in Boston this evening, they have laid plans for a southern trip starting this month to prepare them for an

MATSUYAMA HAS SOLE LEAD IN BILLIARD MEET

Hagenlacher Defeated
Young Jake Schaefer
Last Night

New York, Feb. 8.—(AP)—Klirney Matsuyama stood alone today as the only unbeaten contestant in the world's championship 18.2 balkline billiards tournament. But the little Japanese owes at least a part of his exalted position to some exceedingly brilliant billiards by Eric Hagenlacher, the phlegmatic German.

Uncorking a run of 207, highest of the tournament, last night, Hagenlacher gave Young Jake Schaefer his first defeat and achieved for himself, his first victory.

With seven of the 15 matches down on the books, Matsuyama now leads the procession with two victories and no defeats.

Young Jake was in form from the start and quickly ran up a lead of 109 to 63 at the end of the 4th inning. Here Hagenlacher got the balls together and nursed them along until he had counted 207. A long two-cushion effort failed on his 208th carom. After that the match was a long drawn out affair, cautiously played by both contestants. Hagenlacher finally ran out in the 17th inning with an unfinished run of five.

MAKING & BAKING a Ten-foot Pie Would Certainly Keep you Guessing

☐ Roasting
Coffee in Bulk is also Guess-work. That's why Hills Bros
Originated their Continuous Process,
"Controlled Roasting"
—just a Few
Pounds at a Time.

"GUESSING" is the word! Guessing whether the ingredients of your pie are properly mixed. Guessing whether the inside is done. The fact is, pies and all food cooked in small quantities are better than those cooked in bulk. Why? Because the small unit of food can be controlled during cooking.

Hills Bros. use this same principle of control in roasting coffee. A few pounds at a time continually pass through roasters. No bulk roasting. As a result every berry is roasted evenly and a matchless uniform flavor is obtained. No other coffee can taste like Hills Bros., for this exact process—Controlled Roasting—is exclusive to Hills Bros.

The rich aroma and wonderful flavor of this rare blend of coffee come to you intact because Hills Bros. Coffee is packed in vacuum tins. When you open the can, the coffee is just as it comes from the roaster.

Ask for Hills Bros. Coffee by name and look for the Arab on the can. Sold everywhere and overwhelmingly preferred by coffee-lovers.

Fresh from the original vacuum

PONTIUS PILATE IS SUBJECT OF UNION PRE-LENTEN TALK

Rev. Hepburn in Second of Series of Three Addresses

With a warmth of heart and intensity of emotion that revealed the ardent pastor-type of minister, the Rev. Henry Hepburn gave his second in the series of three Union Pre-Lenten addresses in the Presbyterian Church last night on the well-known verse of Pontius Pilate, the Roman Governor under whom Christ was crucified: "What then shall I do with Jesus who is called Christ?" It was a vivid presentation of the benefits and blessing of the acceptance of Christ, heightened by contrast with the loss and despair following an attitude and choice of rejection.

"Pilate was a man of many questions," it will be noted from the Gospel records, the Doctor began. "But of all he asked, this one is the most important and far-reaching. Pilate erred in asking it of others, and not of himself. This question of questions is to be self-addressed and self-decided. In the light of what followed—Pilate's hand washing, the benediction of the Jews, the 'Apostles Creed'—(suffered under Pontius Pilate)—how sad and shameful is the memory left behind by the haughty Roman officer, who had it within his opportunity to register a high choice and championship of all the virtues he could not but see resident in the person and work of Jesus!"

"Answers to this question of Pilate, 'What shall I do with Jesus?' have assumed, in general four forms: 1. Open and complete rejection of Christ. This is rare, for few are so cold toward truth and so hardened against the lovely as to refuse any interest or admiration whatsoever. 2. Recognition to a casual degree, but no particular interest, just a complacent unconcern, so far as any impulses in favor of Christ. 3. Later intentions to investigate and consider, but with no present seriousness over the matter. 4. Open and complete acceptance and discipleship.

These four attitudes are really only two: The first three are modified rejection; the last is the only affirmative one, and it only avails. It says 'Yes to the Savior of mankind; the others all say, 'No'."

The remainder of the lecture consisted of a group of five dramatic "double-pictures" of Dr. Hepburn's own arrangement, touchingly portrayed, that brought out the extreme differences wrought in human lives by their decisions with reference to Christ.

Set thus in impressive contrast were Randolph of Roanoke and

The Scoffer's Conversion.

The address closed with an affecting story of a scoffer's sudden conversion to Christ by a fatal accident that befell his fourteen-year-old son who forbidden by his father to attend a church, confessed while dying that he had disobeyed the father's command, and in his dying plea for forgiveness of this disobedience saved his father for Christ.

Last Lecture Tonight.

Tonight's third and last lecture is entitled, "A Marvelous Redemption." Dr. Hepburn announced that on this address he had spent much time and study, and felt it would happily complete the range of treatment designed for these preparatory studies as the Easter season approaches. The choir of the First Methodist church will have the music in charge with Life.

This series of articles is prepared under the direction of the Gorgas Memorial Institute, which is organized to perpetuate to the life work of the late Major-General Gorgas in preventing unnecessary illness. Headquarters of the Institute are at 1331 G Street, N. W., Washington, D. C.

Do you know that 80 per cent of tuberculous patients discharged from one institution of excellent standing die within three years of discharge? Do you know that the majority of cavity cases only live on an average of fifteen months after the discovery of the cavity? Do you know that 60 per cent of the cases coming to the dessert court try in search of climate are in the far stage of the disease? Do you know 47 per cent of these patients die within six months of arrival.

And, further, do you know the why of all the slaughter of human lives? The answer is: Lack of early diagnosis. Tuberculosis to be cured must be diagnosed early. Ninety per cent of early type cases get well. The other 10 per cent die because of poor advice, or because they did not take good advice.

Take an inventory of your health only brings to light tuberculosis, but each year and slip an extra one in before the year is up if you do not feel up to par.

Choose your physician, not for his bedside manner, but for his brains and ability; if you choose wisely, he will not only show tuberculosis of the lung proper, but will reveal tuberculosis of the glands, which are beginning disease, will be picked up this later stage before it involves the lung tissue. Glandular tuberculosis made well increased a hundredfold. Many good authorities state that the disease at this early stage means the saving of the lives of many children and the prevention of many cases of active tuberculosis in after life.

Ready to Raise a Racket

The bare knees may have helped. Anyhow, Fraulein Anne Lowenthal, right, young tennis champion of Germany, was victorious in her match with Virginia Rice, Massachusetts' girl champion, at the New Courts Tennis Club, Cannes, France. Here you see the comely players at the net, with the glint of battle in their eyes and rackets in their hands, just before their international match began.

Is This What Girls Are Coming To?

"Wonderful!" Coolidge Tells America's Skipper

THIS HAS HAPPENED

JACK HAYWARD, struggling young insurance broker, becomes engaged to RUTH LESTER, secretary to "HANDSOME HARRY" BORDEN, promoter of dubious stock companies, who is just across the narrow aisle from Jack.

On a Saturday morning in January, the promoter has two women callers. The first is RITA DI BORG, night club dancer, who is to accompany him to the Winter Haven for the week-end. The second is MRS. BORDEN, Borden's wife and mother of his two children, who calls for her monthly alimony. Learning he is busy, she agrees to return. Before she goes, she glances the pistol in Ruth's desk. While Ruth takes dictation Borden makes a playful pass at her and she screams, attracting Jack's attention in the opposite office. He is furious.

When they meet for lunch, Ruth discovers she has forgotten her bank book and rushes back to the office. At the luncheon table Jack says he left their theater tickets on his desk and returns for them. He returns strangely perturbed.

When on Monday morning Ruth finds the body of Borden sprawled on the floor near the window, she reviews Jack's strange behavior and is terrified with fear. She runs to his office and, finding him out, looks frantically in his desk for his gun. It is gone! Jack returns immediately and accompanies her to Borden's office where he calls the police. Fearing Jack shot Borden through the open window she rushes into Borden's office to close his window before the police arrive. The window is already closed. The police arrive.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER VIII

In the brief instant between the turning of the knob of the outer door and the entrance of the police, Ruth had time to get control of her nerves. For fear so horrible that she now wondered how she had been able to hear it had been lifted from her mind and heart.

The window of Borden's private office, opening upon the airshaft, and directly opposite to Jack Hayward's window, was closed. How could she, even for a moment, have believed her man was guilty of murder?

"Henry P. Borden's office?" an aggressive voice demanded unnecessarily, for the name was painted on the door. "What's happened here?"

Ruth Lester was still standing in the protective circle of Jack Hayward's arm. She looked curiously, no longer afraid, at the officer in plainclothes who was addressing her. Behind him stood two policemen in uniform, but Ruth scarcely saw them. The detective towered over her—a gigantic man, at least six feet three inches tall and broad in proportion. He looked as if he had grown grizzled in the service of justice, but was still not satiated, getting a savage joy out of running criminals to earth.

"I am John C. Hayward—offices in this building, and this is Miss Lester—Ruth Lester, secretary to Mr. Borden, who is—in there. Murdered," Jack answered the detective quietly.

"I'm Detective Sergeant McMann," the huge man completed the strange introductions curtly.

RUTH and Jack stood aside to let the three of them pass

WIDER SPREAD OF SMALLPOX IS EXPECTED

State Dept. of Health Issues Warning Concerning Disease

Springfield, Feb. 8.—Illinois is infected with foci of smallpox which yielded 548 cases during January and still manifests a strong disposition to spread the disease, according to statistics released here today by the State Department of Public Health. The case reports, coming from a score of counties, represent the widest prevalence experienced by the state during January since 1921 and 1900 cases were reported. While foci and prevalence are most numerous in the central part of the state no section is entirely free and exposure to the infection has been extensive. Local health officers in areas affected by outbreaks have been advised by the state health director that it is their duty under the law to take necessary control steps.

"Illinois is about to face its periodic election on the question of vaccination against smallpox," the report stated. "The dates of these elections are determined like those of the British political system—both come when a crisis rises. With more than 500 cases of smallpox reported during January from upwards of a score of counties the situation is nothing less than a crisis so far as the disease is concerned."

Lee Co. Affected

"While generally mild in character there was one fatality at Pana on January 23d from malignant smallpox and there is never any assurance that mild outbreak will not taper off into a severe and fatal form of the disease. Outbreaks have changed from the mild to the malignant form in Illinois during the last decade but this is not usual."

"The usual history is for February and March to yield more smallpox than does January in Illinois. Thus the outlook is for a wider prevalence during the next eight or ten weeks. Exposures have been quite extensive in many directions. Counties from which cases have been reported include: Adams, Alexander, Bureau, Cass, Clark, Christian, Cook, Crawford, Cumberland, Effingham, Fulton, Gallatin, Greene, Hancock, Henderson, Iroquois, Jasper, Jefferson, Kankakee, Knox, Lee, Logan, McLean, Macon, Macoupin, Mason, Morgan, Montgomery, Ogle, Peoria, Pike, Pulaski, Richland, St. Clair, Sangamon, Schuyler, Scott, Stark, Tazewell, Wabash, Warren, White, Whiteside, Winnebago, Washington."

"When no smallpox is present vaccination is strictly voluntary in Illinois, the courts having held that to make vaccination compulsory is unconstitutional. On the other hand the courts have the legal right to require either vaccination or quarantine of citizens when an epidemic threatens a community. Thus the development of a few cases in a community clothes health officials with the power to offer the public vaccination and quarantine as control measures and what amounts to a popular vote follows. Vaccination usually wins by an overwhelming majority because vaccination protects the individual and everybody else protects nobody but the other fellow for several years while quarantine and might have to be repeated frequently."

A THOUGHT FOR TODAY

We are troubled on every side, yet not distressed; we are perplexed, but not in despair.—II Corinthians 4:8.

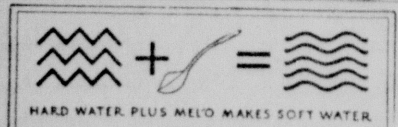

Troubles are exceedingly gregarious in their nature, and flying in flocks are apt to perch capriciously.—Dickens.

MAKING THE GRADE

"Make it short and snappy," cried the city editor. "Boil it down!"

And when they handed the new rewrite man the Ten Commandments, to try him out, he wrote:

"Don't."—Life.

This is a hard-water country

Soap and hard water make scum. The hardness in the water combines with the soap. The scum collects dirt. There is a dirty ring around the dishpan, the washbub, the bathtub. But soften hard water with Melo and no scum forms.

Water softened with Melo is a wonderful cleaner, with or without soap. It makes the soap much more effective, too, saving from 1/3 to 1/2 the amount ordinarily used. Melo only costs 10 cents a can. You can afford to buy 3 cans and keep one in the kitchen, one in the laundry, and one in the bathroom. Get it at your grocer's.
